Steering Straight: My Plan to Keep on Track

In today's busy world, it's hard to find time to take stock and plan for the challenges ahead. However, like a map, plans can help you stay on track. This includes making a plan for how you can support yourself. This is the best way to protect the things that matter most to you: your farm, how well you do your job, your family and relationships, and your health. This plan will help you to:

- Know what activities are helpful and keep you feeling positive during tough times
- Achieve future goals, and break them down into manageable steps
- Know who you can call on for support when tackling a goal or a challenge

You can take action, right now, by putting pen to paper. So make yourself a cuppa, find a quiet spot, and start Steering Straight: My Plan to Keep on Track. It takes most people about 15-30 minutes.

1. Taking stock: what signs show me that my stress levels are rising?

(a) When people find themselves in challenging situations, it is normal to feel some stress or worry. You may notice changes in your body, what you are feeling, and how you act. Everyone reacts a bit differently. In the circles below, tick the changes you have noticed in yourself during tough times (or that someone else might have pointed out).

(b) Are there any other signs that you have noticed in challenging situations (e.g. actions, thoughts, feelings, in your body)?

2. It's OK to experience the changes you wrote down in Question 1. Everyone feels some stress, even when life is good. The trick is to keep it manageable. If you regularly do small things that help you feel good (and don't cause harm to yourself or others), you are well on your way to stopping things from getting out of hand. Think about what positive actions you can take by yourself, and how your mood might Tip! improve if you spend time with others (people or pets). Remember to do these Keep your ideas things when life is going well, as well. It's like healthy eating - you don't just do manageable. Try it when you're crook. and think of some (a) When I feel stressed or worried, what can I do to reset? By myself: With someone else: • E.g. Call a friend for a yarn E.g. Listen to my favourite song (b) When I feel down, what can I do to feel better? With someone else: By myself: E.g. Cook something for fun • E.g. Play with the kids/grandkids ... and how can I make sure I will do these things? 3. What do I enjoy? Set a reminder in my phone/diary (E.g. Gardening, a favourite spot to sit Do something I enjoy with a friend on the farm, playing golf with friends) Share my plans with others Write a reminder on a sticky-note Each morning, write down an enjoyable activity I plan to do today Look at Steering Straight every week to remind myself

4. What's ahead of me?

Farming and farm life is about achieving small goals with a bigger goal in mind. What's coming up that you can plan for? What positive change can you include in your life?

5. Who's in my network that can I talk to?

Farming issues can cross both personal and professional territory. When facing a problem, you might want to include whoever can help you with a whole range of farming or personal issues. Your professional network could include your stock agent or agronomist. Your personal network may include a trusted neighbour or someone from your local community group. Think about when people are available to talk to.

6. Useful resources

The National Centre for Farmer Health has gathered useful resources for farm men, women, and agricultural workers. They are available online at the following links.

The Managing Stress on the Farm booklet is available to download and in hard-copy (free). Resources are listed at the back of the booklet.

https://bit.ly/fh-stress

An online psychology service (available online or via phone). Psychologists with farmer health training are available.

https://bit.ly/fh-lysn

Contact details of organisations that support farmers (e.g. emergency information, emotional support services, farm business support services, etc.).

Now that you have taken the time to complete Steering Straight: My Plan to Stay on Track, put a copy somewhere you will see it often, such as the fridge or the back of the toilet door. It is also a good idea to have a copy when out on the farm, so keep a photo of it in your phone, or a copy in the glove-box. This is your plan – you can update it whenever you need to accommodate life's surprises.
